Fifth teen arrested for JES break-in

Under Florida Statute 985.04, the name, photograph and arrest report of a juvenile offender who commits a felony offense, is charged with a felony violation, or is transferred to an adult court of law is not considered confidential and exempt solely because of the child's age. All information has been obtained by ECB Publishing reporters from local law enforcement agencies and was released legally and fairly.

After sitting empty for the last few years, the Jefferson Elementary School was expected to receive a facelift and return to the community as a community center, which would be run by the 11th Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

The 11th Episcopal

District had planned to use the former school campus as a community center which would benefit Jefferson County youth and adults through the provision of proposed programs that would encompass child care, health care, job training and more.

Only months after coming to a lease agreement with the Jefferson County School District (which still owns the school campus), on Sunday, March 3, the 11th Episcopal District received a call that stated the JES building had been broken into and

Clean up Monticello

Ashley Hunter
ECB Publishing, Inc.

It's spring time! Time to open the windows, dust the furniture and air the rugs with spring cleaning. Then, while you are in the spring cleaning mood, why not help out with one of the two spring cleaning events planned for Monticello this weekend?

Taking place on Saturday, April 27, the Big Spring Clean 2019 will focus on the beautification and cleaning of downtown Monticello.

The event, hosted by MainStreet Monticello, is open to business owners and citizens alike.

Volunteers can stop by the hospitality tent, which will be located on 110 E. Dogwood St., around 8 a.m. in order to be given their assignments.

Cleaning projects will include landscaping, window washing, litter clean-up, pressure washing, and more.

For more information, contact Michele Arce-neaux at (678) 614-0130.

The second spring cleaning event is the Monticello Ecological Park clean-up, hosted by seventh grader Louis Dearman.

"Monticello Ecological Park is chocked with litter. You can help!" says Dearman.

Volunteers for the park cleanup will need to contact Dearman's team at eco.park.cleanup@gmail.com or Esther Warrendorf at (850) 491-2973.

Volunteers will be required to fill out a form prior to the event.

This will be a community-service-hours friendly event.

There will be plenty of opportunities to stay busy and clean up our beautiful, historic town this weekend!

3-2 vote in favor of bid application

Ashley Hunter
ECB Publishing, Inc.

Forty acres of land, bordering the Jefferson Somerset school campus, is currently up for bid after an interested party contacted the Jefferson County School Board (JCSB), asking for an opportunity to lease the land.

The property, which is a total of 40.12 acres and valued at $200,600 (according to the Jefferson County Property Appraiser's land map), is located at the corner of Phelps Road and Old Drifton Road.

The property borders the southern boundary line where the Jefferson Somerset campus is located.

During the March 2019 meeting earlier this year, Buford Reedy and David Barnhart came before the JCSB to discuss the possibilities of leasing the land.

Barnhart and Reedy were given permission by the school board members to prepare and present a lease document, which the board members could view and base a decision upon.

Buford and Reedy returned before the board members on the April meeting of the JCSB, on Monday, April 8, with a completed lease agreement.

The document laid out, in detail, how the property would be used, the rent amount which would be paid per year, and other additional terms.

According to the lease that was presented, the 40.12 acres of land would be rented out for $500 a year (with an additional upfront $500 security deposit at the start of the lease).

The lease would last until July of 2030 – a total of 11 years.

Monticello man wins $1 million in lottery

Ashley Hunter

Everyone dreams, at some point or another, of winning big in the lottery – and for a Jefferson County man, that dream has now become a reality.

On Friday, April 19, the Florida Lottery announced that Carl Madison, 60, of Monticello, was one of the lotto's newest winners.

According to the press release issued by Florida Lottery Communications, Madison purchased a $5 Gold Rush Classic scratch-off game ticket at a Tallahassee gas station located off Capital Circle Southeast.

The scratch-off ticket was loaded with winning numbers, making Madison $1,000,000 richer.

On Wednesday, April 17, Madison and his family gathered at the Tallahassee Florida Lottery

Wishful Hidden Treasure?

For those of you who thought Washington would finally get back to governing and undertaking the public's essential business once Special Council Muller's report was finalized, buckle your seatbelts!! The outright refusal by Democrats to accept the legitimate and constitutional outcome of the 2016 presidential election, has morphed into an irrational hysteria of Trump hatred which has spread like a deadly virus to significantly divide our great nation. For over two painstaking years, the Democrats have been ringing their hands and confidently expecting Special Council Muller and his henchmen to come up with a boatload of evil and unlawful accounts of President Trump and his associates colluding with Russia to guarantee his win. As a bonus, they were expecting the Special Council would also find damning and illegal accounts of Trump obstructing justice and interfering with the Special Councils investigation. Just like the 2016 election results, in this case the Democrats are not going to accept the Special Council's report of no Trump collusion or obstruction of justice. They needed a silver bullet from Muller to take down this president and overturn the results of the 2016 election. Crushed by the report's unexpected outcome, their Trump hating hysteria demands they waste even more valuable legislative time combing through Muller's report trying to find any shred of information they can blow out of proportion. They are now so invested, they must keep fanning the fire of presidential impeachment and wrong doing all the way to the 2020 presidential election.

This reminds me of the old story when a father took his young son to visit a farm for the first time. The father soon discovered his son in the barn digging feverishly through a nasty and large pile of manure. The startled father shouted to his son, "What in the world are you doing!?" To which his son replied, "There must be a pony in here somewhere!" Sound kind of familiar?

It's now high time for our country to get back on track and the Democrats to stop wasting time looking for the "pony." Unfortunately as long as Democrat voters do nothing and just accept the self-serving and arrogant actions of the "representatives" they put in office, we are going to be a stagnant nation for at least another two years! UGH!!

The Fight Continues

What's freedom worth? This writers generation assumed an obligation, that of going to war, to save Viet Nam. And then, in April, 1975, we declared victory, jumped on helicopters, and ships, and came on home.

Cut Their Legs Off

But there was one South Vietnamese fighter pilot who continued the struggle against communism over the last decades.

Le Van Tong, that fighter pilot, flying an A-37 attack plane, was shot down near Nha Trang shortly before the end of the war, where he was captured and sent to a communist "reeducation" camp. Some of his toenails were ripped out, he was placed in solitary confinement inside a cargo container, and he was hung by his feet and beaten.

Mr. Tong escaped the "reeducation" camp, in 1980, and embarked on a 17-month trek through Cambodia, Thailand and Malaysia, traveling by bike, bus, rail and foot. Eventually arriving at the U.S. Embassy to request asylum.

He became an American citizen, even working on his PhD. Eventually, the April 9, 2019 Washington Post b4 obituary reported, that he aimed to make a revolution. He authored a 300-page autobiography, Black Eagle, which took its name from the fighter squadron he served in at the close of the Viet Nam war.

Ly Van Tong: One Man's Fight Against Communism

Push Back

On September 4, 1992, he continued his country's fight for freedom when he went on a journey to show what one man can do. He boarded an Air Vietnam flight, carrying 155 passengers from Bangkok to Ho Chi Minh City (Saigon), and took it over. He dumped tens of thousands of anti-communist pamphlets over the city urging residents to take up arms against the government.

"People of Saigon-fill the streets!" they read. "Occupy the radio and television stations! Ask the police to join the revolution or return to their barracks. An overseas invasion force is on the way! I will soon be there to lead the fight. Await instructions!"

Mr. Tong eventually threw himself out the window, using a secondhand parachute he had purchased in Bangkok, to land safely in a swamp. None of the passengers or crew was injured, but Mr. Tong was arrested within two hours.

He was sentenced to 20 years in prison. He was released early in 1998 as part of a general amnesty.

A Folk Hero

Returning to these united States, unrepentant, Mr. Tong went on to broaden his fight against communism, dropping leaflets over Havana on New Year's Day 2000 that urged Cubans to rise up against "the old dinosaur Fidel Castro." They were signed, "Commander in Chief of the Revolutionary Anti-Communist Forces of the World."

Mr. Tong returned to Florida, unscathed. He next traveled to Thailand where he hired a twin-engine plane and flew to Ho Chi Minh City to again, drop anti-communist pamphlets. Jailed for seven years, he said: "The only thing that matters is, the Communists still control my country. I'm a pilot. This is what I can do."

Christian Concepts... The Resurrection

During the Easter season our thoughts turn to the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the most pivotal event in human history. Christianity is founded upon it and human history is divided by it.

Indeed, Christianity stands or falls on its historical authenticity.

Do we as Christians ask the world to blindly embrace the reality of the resurrection? While faith is an essential component of Christianity there is a difference between faith and blind faith. We have not been left totally in the dark. The evidence for the resurrection is clearly seen in the lives of the apostles and the faith that was founded on their eyewitness accounts.

I cannot formulate, nor have I ever read, a more compelling argument for the historicity of the resurrection of Christ than that offered by Scottish theologian Dr. Principal Hill. The late Dr. D. James Kennedy in his book Why I Believe shares the following statement by Dr. Hill.

Hill said, "But if notwithstanding every appearance of truth, you suppose their testimony to be false, then inexplicable circumstances of glaring absurdity crowd upon you.

You must suppose that twelve men of mean birth, of no education, living in that humble station which placed ambitious views out of their reach and far from their thoughts, without any aid from the state, formed the noblest scheme which ever entered into the mind of man, adopted the most daring means of executing that scheme, and conducted it with such address as to conceal the imposture under the semblance of simplicity and virtue.

You must suppose that men guilty of blasphemy and falsehood, united in an attempt the best contrived, and which has in fact proved the most successful, for making the world virtuous; that they formed this singular enterprise without seeking any advantage to themselves, with an avowed contempt of loss and profit, and with the certain expectation of scorn and persecution; that although conscious of one another's villainy, none of them ever thought of providing for his own security by disclosing the fraud, but amidst sufferings the most grievous to flesh and blood they persevered in their conspiracy to cheat the world into piety, honesty and benevolence.

Truly, they who can swallow such suppositions have no title to object to miracles."

History is replete with accounts of martyrs from different faiths who have died for what they believed, but they died believing those things to be true. There is not a single record of anyone who died for what they knew was a lie. If the disciples stole the body of Christ and hid it to feign Christ's resurrection, is it reasonable to believe they gave the remainder of their lives to suffer privations, persecutions and death knowing the resurrection was a lie?

This is the point that Dr. Hill makes so cogently. Ours is not a blind faith. An empty tomb gives mute testimony to the angel's words, "He is not here, but He has risen," (Luke 24:6).

After meeting with members of the school district, as well as officers from the Monticello Police Department, it was discovered that several glass doors and windows had been broken by vandals.

The inside of the building also sustained extensive damage from the vandals, such as dispersed fire extinguisher agent throughout the campus' rooms and halls, scattered paperwork, damaged books that had been thrown "haphazardly" around the rooms, broken fluorescent light bulbs, as well as crude and profane graffiti drawn on the walls of the school.

Bookshelves were pushed over in the media center, with the books being tossed into piles. The windows to interior doors were broken.

Despite the extensive damage, law enforcement officers were able to determine that no items appeared to have been stolen.

With no witnesses to the break-in or vandalism, investigators at the MPD continued to review the case without many leads until Thursday, March 21 when Sgt. Tharpe made contact with a juvenile subject.

During an interview with the subject (post-Miranda rights reading and with a parent present), the juvenile provided information about the destructing vandalism at JES.

The juvenile explained that the group of young perpetrators had planned to go to JES and "just explore" the empty building.

However, once inside the building, the juvenile claimed that another juvenile began "acting stupid" by spraying fire extinguishers while running down the hallways of the school.

The group continued to explore and vandalize the campus by breaking windows and trophy cases, pushing over bookshelves, tossing books throughout the media center, breaking lightbulbs and drawing graffiti.

The total amount of damages are estimated to be in the excess of $30,000.

Over the course of several more days, Sgt. Tharpe interviewed four other subjects and each subject corroborated the statements of the other juveniles.

Warrants were released for the five juvenile subjects, with four teens being arrested shortly thereafter.

The fifth juvenile subject, Ezekial Gillyard, was booked into the Jefferson County Jail on Wednesday, April 3, after Gillyard turned himself in to law enforcement officers.

As of the last meeting of the Jefferson County School Board, it was not determined whether the 11th Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church is still interested in leasing the elementary school or whether a community center will continue to be planned for the building.

The land would be used for the farming of watermelons, livestock hay, and other agricultural cultivations.

Board member Charles Boland, who – during the March meeting – had voiced his interest in bidding out the land for lease or purchase options, addressed the estimated worth of the land.

"The property is appraised at $5,000 an acre," said Boland, before strongly recommending that the board place the property up for bid before handing it off for 11 years at $500 a year. "We could use the money in our system."

Board member Sandra Saunders felt differently, claiming that the land had been there for at least 20 years without anyone contacting the board during that time.

"Had anybody else been interested, I would have thought that they would have come tonight," said Saunders. "It's been sitting up there forever and ever."

Saunders also opposed Boland's recommendation of using a bid process to seek out a higher profit.

"I don't know what our district needs – we're not running a whole lot for us to need three or four million dollars here," said Saunders, adding that she liked what Barnhart and Reedy were proposing to do, agriculturally, with the land. "I'm not for the bidding process at this point."

After Saunders' statements, board member Bill Brumfield spoke up, advising that he was in support of Boland's recommendation to bid out the property before signing a lease agreement.

"I think that we need to advertise and give people a chance to say something – we can put it off for one more month, but I think we need to advertise," said Brumfield.

Board chairperson Shirley Washington, who had up to this moment remained silent with the exception of complimenting Barnhart and Reedy on their well-prepared lease, joined the discussion.

"People knew that land was there," said Washington. "It bothers me...that land could have laid there [for] 50 years, and until someone came and spoke about it, then everybody got interested. Then it's [all] money, money. The only thing I have heard about Jefferson County is about getting money for the county, money for the school system. No one has been concerned about the care, the safety and the educational curricular for these children."

Further, Washington accused "people" of trying to contradict or hinder "what someone else is trying to do."

"It's only ever about the dollar," Washington rebuked, asking what the JCSB would do with more money.

"Fix the auditorium," replied Boland, addressing the fact that the Kilpatrick Auditorium, located on Water Street, had been operating without a functioning air conditioning unit, as well as with multiple other maintenance issues for months.

"I respect that, but why don't a group of the citizens that [are] concerned about that go to the Department of Education (DOE) as a committee for Jefferson County...and get money to fix the auditorium if they are concerned?" asked Washington. "I agree, the auditorium does need air conditioning, but have you ever thought [about] organizing somebody, to just go to DOE? But no, we sit here and we bash and we talk and we criticize. I just don't believe in allowing people to keep this county down."

"Ms. Washington, would it hurt to put it off for one month and put it up for bid, and then if anybody didn't bid on the property, then we would go into our contract with Mr. Barnhart?" asked Boland. "I'm just saying, I think we will be in trouble somewhere along the line, cause they will take this land and make a profit on it. I think we may be in trouble by

"If anything is not written in the Monticello News the way I think it should be, if they put anything up in the way I handled myself or what I said, then you'll know because I'll retaliate."

- Shirley Washington during a discussion with Board member Brumfield during the Monday, April 8 public meeting of the Jefferson County School Board.

not giving the citizens of Jefferson County – or any other county – the chance to look at the property and see that it is up for bid."

Boland also stressed that he felt as though it would be difficult for the JCSB to obtain funding for other projects from the DOE, should they decide to continue "giving property away" instead of making profits on the properties the board owns.

"I don't think we are doing the citizens of Jefferson County justice by not putting this up for bid."

Board member Brumfield rejoined the conversation, saying: "I don't want to do something that will come back and bite us."

Brumfield shared that, if the board did decide to bid out the property and not receive any acceptable bids, he would be more than supportive about handing the property over to the Barnhart/Reedy group.

Brumfield also declared that he had not been aware, after the March meeting, that the JCSB would be voting so quickly on the lease agreement with Barnhart and Reedy. Some of the school board members did not receive the agenda packets containing the lease until the Friday before the meeting, and others echoed Brumfield's surprise that the contract had already been placed before them for an official vote.

"I did not know we were voting on this tonight," said Brumfield. "I'm going to vote no until we do [things] the right way. I want to do what's right for this county."

Superintendent Marianne Arbulu advised the board that, around a year ago, the state's Department of Education requested that the school district look at all its properties and decide which properties would be held or sold.

The board had agreed to classify the Old Drifton/Phelps property as a hold.

"We never articulated why," said Arbulu. "It may behoove us to think about what is it that these properties are intended [for], what their intended use should be."

Maintaining a role as a peacemaker, Arbulu claimed that both sides made valid opinions about either moving forward or waiting to find the best financial offer.

"We're strapped for cash, we don't have students, a future, any plan for growth," added Arbulu before confirming that she would provide assistance for whatever the JCSB needed and decided.

Gladys Roann-Watson, the only board member yet to vie in, spoke up.

"I am on the same page as Mr. Brumfield and Mr. Boland," said Roann-Watson. "I am of the opinion that we could hold off another 30 days. Since it's been sitting out there that long, I don't think 30 days will make that much difference."

Upon Saunders request for clarification, School Board Attorney Reeves advised that there is no state statute that requires them to bid out for leases, however, Reeves did advise that bidding out would be his suggestion.

Reeves also addressed the difference between this lease and the Jefferson Elementary School lease, which had been given to a private religious organization for $1 earlier this year.

While the religious group planned to use the elementary school to improve the community through the provision of programs, child care, job training and more, the Phelps land would be used for private purposes, and the only benefit the school district would receive was through rental payments.

"The only benefit there is, is to receive money," said Reeves. "In my opinion, you should bid it out, because how else do you know you've gotten the best deal for the district?"

With the discussion primarily concluded, School board chairperson Washington called for a vote in favor of approving the lease agreement with Barnhart and Reedy.

Shirley Washington and Sandra Saunders voted in favor of the lease.

Bill Brumfield, Gladys Roann-Watson and Charles Boland voted against the lease.

With a 2-3 tally, the vote failed.

With the vote behind them, Brumfield again suggested that the board look towards advertising the property for bids.

Brumfield made a motion for the property to be bid out as a lease, and advertised right away, with Roann-Watson seconding the motion.

Before a vote could be taken, Shirley Washington criticized the board for 'flickering' on how they process and handle leases.

"I always like to be fair, honest and consistent," said Washington, claiming that the board complicates the lease process for some people, but not for others.

The vote was held, with Bill Brumfield, Gladys Roann-Watson and Charles Boland voting for the advertising of bids, and Shirley Washington and Sandra Saunders voting in opposition.

With the decision approved for the opening the Phelps property for bids from the community, the JCSB decided to accept bids until May 6.

Bids will be publically opened on May 7 and voted on at next board meeting, on May 13.

All bids must include the rental amount, which shall be no less than $500 a year (which is a little over $12 a year per acre).

Proposal specifications can be received by contacting Superintendent Arbulu at (850) 342-0100 or Marianne.Arbulu@jeffersonschooldistrict.org.

Should You Borrow from Your 401(k)?

If you work for a business that offers a 401(k) plan, consider yourself fortunate, because a 401(k), with its tax advantages and variety of investment options, is a great way to save for retirement. But what if you need to tap in to your plan before you retire? Is it a good idea to borrow from your 401(k)?

To begin with, you need to determine if a loan is even available. You can only borrow from your 401(k) if you're still working for the company that offers the plan, but even so, you'll have to check with your human resources area to determine if loans are allowed. If they are, you'll want to weigh the pros and cons before taking action.

On the "pro" side, it's pretty easy to get a 401(k) loan – there's no formal loan application and no minimum credit score required. Plus, you're only borrowing from yourself, and you can generally repay the loan with automatic paycheck deductions, typically over a five-year period.

However, you'll also encounter some "cons" when taking out a 401(k) loan, particularly concerning taxes. If you had not borrowed from your 401(k), the money you took out could have been growing on a tax-deferred basis, assuming you used pre-tax dollars to fund your plan, and your withdrawals will only be taxed once. But when you borrow from your plan, you will have to repay it, along with interest, with money you've earned – and been taxed on – and then, when you withdraw it later, you'll pay taxes on it again.

Furthermore, if you leave your employer before fully repaying your loan, the outstanding balance likely will be taxable, although you may have a grace period in which to pay it off and avoid taxes.

And perhaps even more important, taking money from your 401(k), even if you repay it later, will almost certainly slow the growth potential of your account – which, in plain terms, means you may have less money available for retirement.

Of course, if you encounter an emergency, and you have nowhere else to turn, you may need to borrow from your 401(k). And some plans allow hardship withdrawals for medical expenses and other needs, although you'll still be taxed on the amount you withdraw.

But you'd probably be better off if you can prepare, well in advance, for situations in which you need immediate access to a sizable sum. One way of doing this is to build an emergency fund containing six months' to a year's worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account. You also might find some resources in the part of your investment portfolio held outside your 401(k). For example, you can always withdraw contributions to a Roth IRA without incurring taxes (although the earnings on these contributions could be taxable if you take the money out before you're 59½ and you've had your account less than five years).

In any case, you work hard to build your 401(k) – so, no matter where you are in life, think carefully about how you will use the money.

spreadsheet generation to PowerPoint presentations to preparing schedules. Admins are often the unsung heroes of the workplace, and while they may not receive much fanfare, without the continued efforts of admins, businesses may grind to a halt.

In recognition of the roles they play, administrative professionals have been honored during a special week each April for the past 60 years. Called Secretary's Day upon its inception in 1952, the holiday was later expanded and the name changed to incorporate all of the employees who play pivotal administrative rolls in companies big and small. Managers and business owners may choose their employees, but the following ideas can breathe fresh life into festivities and help boost employee morale even further.

- Spring for coffee. Many employees require a caffeine buzz to get them through their busy days. The old pot in the break room may not deliver the best brews these days, and you can give employees another coffee fix to help them perk up. Check to see if independent coffee chains or even franchised businesses have to-go carafes. If not, consider purchasing a coffeehouse-inspired coffee maker, complete with the capabilities to make cappuccino and lattes.

- Give the gift of time. What worker couldn't use a few extra days off? Show gratitude by renegotiating vacation and personal time schedules with administrative professionals. Be open-minded to alternate work scheduled if they may keep employees happy and better able to serve the company.

- Show your appreciation through letters or certificates. Professional-looking certificates are easy to come by because they can be produced right in the office with some desktop publishing software. Some office-supply stores also may carry preprinted certificates. A heartfelt thank-you letter also is something that admins may appreciate, as it shows employees their efforts are not being overlooked.

- Present tickets to a game or a show. Many supervisors are given perks, such as free tickets to popular sporting events or other sources of entertainment at nearby venues. Pass on these free tickets to special employees who may not be able to afford box seats or front-row tickets to local theater productions.

- Time pay raises to coincide with Administrative Professionals Week. Use this week as an opportunity to give bonuses or raises, rather than doing so at the beginning or end of the year.

Administrative professionals do a lot to keep companies afloat and operating smoothly. Supervisors, managers and other higher-ups can take every opportunity to show their appreciation to these hard, yet often unsung, workers.

SPRING

Home Improvement Guide

Get more bang for your buck with these spring home improvements

Courtesy of StatePoint

The warmer weather means it's time to start thinking about home improvement projects. Whether you're getting your home in tip-top shape for your own enjoyment, or getting it ready to put on the market, not all home improvement projects are created equal when it comes to return on investment (ROI). Here are top areas on which to focus:

Interiors

The kitchen is the heart of the home and it's one of the best areas to renovate in terms of ROI, according to Remodeling magazine's annual Cost vs. Value Report, which puts the price tag of the average minor kitchen remodel at $22,507, with 80.5 percent of the cost recouped upon resale.

To give the kitchen an updated appearance, replace the flooring, countertops, sink and faucet. A fresh coat of paint in a trendy shade, such as Living Coral, Pantone's Color of the Year, can add a vibrant pop of color to energize any kitchen. Not looking to go that bold? Consider an accent wall, or stick to a classic palate of gray and white in terms of cabinets and countertops. White on white is also a popular new style for kitchens and bathrooms.

Other features home buyers are paying close attention to are laundry rooms and such energy-saving elements as Energy Star appliances and windows, according to the survey "What Home Buyers Want in 2019" by the National Association of Home Builders.

Curb Appeal

The popularity of outdoor projects remains strong and it's for a good reason. According to the Cost vs. Value Report, the biggest bang for your buck in 2019 will come from replacing a garage door. The report says the average price is $3,611, and 97.5 percent of it is recouped when the house is sold.

Other outdoor projects with high ROI include adding manufactured stone veneer to the exterior (94.9 percent), adding a wood deck (75.6 percent) and replacing siding (75.6 percent). Looking for a simpler way to make an impact? Sprucing up the landscape by planting flowers or bushes or even just clearing the yard of debris will make a big statement.

No matter what updates you end up making, it's always a good idea to notify your insurance agent. "Certain upgrades may change the value of a house, so homeowners need to make sure they're properly covered," says Bob Buckel, vice president of product management, Erie Insurance. "There are a few things to look for. Ask your agent about guaranteed replacement cost policies that can cover the cost to rebuild a home in today's dollars following a covered loss."

Some upgrades may also make you eligible for discounts, Buckel adds, especially if they make the home more secure. "For example, Erie Insurance offers certain safety discounts such as for installing smoke alarms or an automatic sprinkler system."

Now you have a checklist of DIY projects to focus on this spring. But before you start, take a moment to assess which ones are worth your time and money.

The American College Testing, otherwise known as the ACT, is a standardized test used for college admissions in the United States. The ACT originally consisted of four tests: English, mathematics, reading, and science.

All four-year colleges and universities in the U.S. accept the ACT.

There are also guaranteed scholarships students can receive based upon their ACT scores, and at certain universities, a full ride scholarship.

The average ACT score is 20.8.

If your score is 21, then you have scored higher than 50 percent of test-takers.

A score of 24 places you at the 74th percentile (better than three-fourths of test-takers).

A score of 28 places you at the 84th percentile (higher than 90 percent of test takers), and 29 places you in the 89th percentile, which is higher than 93 percent of test takers.

Jefferson Somerset is proud to announce that three of their graduating seniors have exemplary ACT scores.

Joshua Aiken and Terrence Mosley both had a composite score of 29, and Montserrat Santillan-Rodriguez had a composite score of 28.

"We are so proud of their accomplishments!" writes the school in response to these three students' above-average scoring on the ACT.

These students not only strive for excellence in their academic work, but also in their character and leadership qualities!

STEM-related grant to benefit middle schools

North Florida Community College

North Florida Community College (NFCC) will begin a new STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) outreach program for area middle schools this fall thanks to a $1.1 million federal grant awarded by the National Science Foundation (NSF).

The mission of the program is to enhance STEM awareness, motivation and skills for rural, middle school youth in Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Lafayette, Suwannee and Taylor counties. Selected middle school students will participate in engineering challenges using remote controlled robotic vehicles. Challenges will be performed on sea (water), air and land (SEAL). Each student will design and build their own robot and, equipped with a microcomputer, learn how to remotely control and move the robot. Students will also learn how to attach actuators and sensors to the robotic vehicle in preparation for a final STEM SEALs competition between participants. School and college faculty will serve as mentors throughout the project.

"The NFCC STEM SEALs program provides an exceptional opportunity to teachers and students in our district," said NFCC professor Dr. Guenter Maresch, the grants principal investigator. "The grant funding allows NFCC to raise the educational experience while providing creative learning incentives that expose middle school students and teachers to practical applications of the science and mathematics curriculum."

"It is important to invest in the future of STEM," said Congressman Al Lawson (Florida-5), who helped secure the National Science Foundation grant. "STEM is the future of our society, and students should have the opportunity to explore their interests in this profession. The National Science Foundation grant will provide equal opportunity to learn more about STEM and potential careers in the field."

Teams of middle school students and teachers will form during NFCC's fall term, late August through December 2019. Selected students will design, construct and optimize their robotic vehicles during the college's 2020 spring semester, January through May. In the summer of 2020, the first NFCC STEM SEALs Engineering Competition will be held on the NFCC campus, in Madison. Applications will be made available to area middle schools this fall.

The NSF grant was awarded to NFCC on Monday, April 1, 2019 and extends over a three-year period through March 21, 2022. For more information, contact Dr. Guenter Maresch at (850) 973-1632 or mareschg@nfcc.edu.

Priming the Pump

The good news is that Christ is alive. The bad news is how little impact that event is having in the world today.

Pastor John Hicks
 First United Methodist Church

There's an old story from the days of the Great Depression about an out-of-work, down-on-his-luck, drifter who got lost in the desert. Parched and dehydrated, he happened upon an old pump, holding the promise of water, life, and renewal. He jacked the lever up and down, but nothing happened.

It was then he noticed an old baking powder can that was attached to the pump. Opening the can, he found a folded note inside which said, "This pump works good as of June 1932. I put a new washer into it and it ought to last five years. But the washer dries up and the pump has got to be primed in order to work. Under the white rock I buried a bottle of water. There's enough water in it to prime the pump, but not if ya drink some first. Pour out about one fourth and let 'er soak to wet the leather washer. Then pour in the rest medium fast and pump like crazy. You will git water. The well has never run dry. Have faith. When ya get yerself all watered up, fill the bottle back up and and put 'er back like you found it for the next feller." (signed) Desert Pete.

Faith in the life of a Christian is like Desert Pete's pump that needs to be primed before it brings forth the life giving water. Faith isn't always easy. In a world that wants black and white answers, meals in a minute, instant gratification, and reward without labor, faith sometimes requires a lot of real hard pumping. The flow of assurance that come from our efforts, however, is worth it.

For you see, faith affirms the Christian experience and promise is real, and what was true then is true now. The same power that raised Jesus from the dead is available to us today. Our God who rolled the stone away then still moves stones for us now.

There are people around us who need to hear this. There are people around us who need to experience this. There are people around us who need to hear and experience that God can fix what's broken, heal what's wounded, and bring to life what has died or dried up. Maybe some of us need to hear and experience this as well.

The message of the empty tomb declares that no power on earth could keep Christ down then, and that no power on earth can keep us down now when we are in Christ Jesus. Living and sharing this faith message can impact our world now and for future generations.

Think of the note Desert Pete left. Think of the water he buried. Think of how he made it possible for water to flow in the desert. We need to do the same. Many of us have tasted the water and been blessed with its refreshing and life bring properties. We've experienced the joy and hope that it brings. But it doesn't just belong to us. The water is for all who thirst, and we need to share it so that those who come behind us can prime their pumps as well.

Tully Sparkman speaks at the Community Prayer Breakfast

Debbie Snapp
ECB Publishing, Inc.

The Thursday, April 4 Community Prayer Breakfast was hosted by the First Baptist Church of Lloyd Men's Ministry; serving 68 guests.

The Thursday morning meeting offered a full-spread buffet, with enough food for 100! The church family did a wonderful job of preparing and serving and were graciously rewarded for their efforts with thank you's and a round of applause.

The list of concerns for the sick and distressed was exceptionally long this morning and 95-year-old Captain Len Dodson, retired USN Chaplain, rendered appropriate prayers on behalf of the attendees.

The program and message given by guest speaker Tully Sparkman was a personal testimony of faith. He shared experiences from the combat zone of the Iraq war and how his Bible readings and faith in God kept him strong; it strengthen him. It was inspirational.

Next month the group will meet to celebrate the 68th annual National Day of Prayer on Thursday, May 2. The National Day of Prayer is designed to mobilize prayer in America and to encourage personal repentance and righteousness in the culture.

The gathering will be hosted by the Monticello Rotary Club at the First United Methodist Church Monticello, in the fellowship hall.

Community Prayer Breakfast is held from 7 to 8 a.m. on the first Thursday of each month, September through May, at a different location with a guest speaker and a program.

All are welcome to come and bring a guest.

Doney Dustin – April 1

Doney Michael Dustin, 25, of Summerfield, FL, was arrested on charges of violation of probation – possession of paraphernalia by Monticello Police Department's (MPD) Officer Smith on Monday, April 1.

Doney Michael Dustin

According to the warrant that was issued for Dustin's arrest, he had violated the terms of his probation after being unable to live without violating any federal, state or local criminal law or ordinance after Dustin was arrested in Marion County in March of 2019 for a driving under the influence offense.

The warrant for Dustin's arrest was signed by his probation officer as well as Jefferson County's Judge Plaines.

Dustin was arrested by MPD's Officer Smith at 1:44 p.m., then transferred into the care of Jefferson County Sheriff's Deputy Kalinowski at 2:07 p.m., before Dustin was booked into the Jefferson County Jail at 2:26 p.m. on April 1.

Calvin Scott – April 1

Calvin Dennis Scott, 35, of Tallahassee, was arrested by Jefferson County Sheriff's Deputy Carey on Monday, April 1 on charges of aggravated battery to a pregnant person.

Calvin Dennis Scott

On the above date, at around 7 p.m., Deputy Carey was dispatched to a residence off of Waukeenah Highway in reference to a physical dispute.

Upon arrival, Deputy Carey was advised by multiple witnesses at the scene that a male suspect had attacked a young woman. The witnesses further pointed out the man, who was sitting nearby in a vehicle.

Deputy Carey immediately detained the subject and advised him of his rights.

The subject, who was identified as Calvin Scott, invoked his fifth amendment right and refused to speak.

With Scott detained, Deputy Carey made contact with the victim, who advised that she was pregnant.

According to the victim, she had been on her way to pick up her daughter when Scott noticed a phone call on the victim's cell phone. Scott began to yell at the victim and demand that she answer the phone; the victim also expressed that Scott had believed her to be cheating on him.

In an attempt to get away from Scott, the victim had left the vehicle that they had been sitting in, but Scott also left the vehicle and began to pursue her on foot.

The victim informed Deputy Carey that Scott had ran across the street and began to strike her, shouting "What's wrong with you?" before throwing her to the ground and stomping on her.

After the victim had finished providing her statement, Deputy Carey gathered more statements from witnesses and then placed Calvin Scott under arrest for aggravated battery on a pregnant woman.

While Scott was being transported to the Jefferson County Jail, the report issued by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office states that he made multiple spontaneous comments, such as declaring that when he got out of jail he would cause physical harm to the victim.

No bond information was provided in Scott's arrest report.

William Lewis – April 3

William Justin Lewis, 31, of Tallahassee, was arrested by Florida Highway Patrol (FHP) Trooper Swindle on Wednesday, April 3 on charges of driving under the influence (DUI) – alcohol or drugs and two drug-related charges.

William Justin Lewis

On the above date, Trooper Swindle was maintaining a patrol of Jefferson County and observed a 2006 blue Honda four door car traveling west on US Highway 27 (State Road 20), east of Capps.

Trooper Swindle observed the vehicle at around 9 p.m., but the vehicle was traveling without tail lights.

Florida Statute 316.234 (pertaining to signal lamps and signal devices), requires any vehicle that is being operated by a driver to be equipped with rear stop lights.

As the vehicle was currently violating Florida law, Trooper Swindle conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle.

The driver was identified as William Lewis.

According to the report issued by the FHP, Trooper Swindle noticed that Lewis' eyes were watery and bloodshot with droopy eyelids. In addition, Lewis had a flushed face, was talkative and Trooper Swindle could detect the odor of alcohol from inside the vehicle.

When questioned, Lewis admitted that he had been drinking.

Trooper Swindle asked Lewis to exit the vehicle in order for a field sobriety test to be conducted; immediately after exiting the vehicle, Lewis began to sway in a circular manner while standing.

After Lewis exited the vehicle, Trooper Swindle was able to smell alcohol and marijuana on his person.

Trooper Swindle had Lewis perform multiple walking, standing, vision and motor function exercises as part of the field sobriety test.

Due to Lewis either failing or having difficulty completing several of the tests, the FHP report states that Trooper Swindle felt as though Lewis was impaired.

At 9:17 p.m., William Lewis was placed under arrest for driving under the influence.

After being read his Miranda Warning, Lewis expressed a wish to remain silent, however at 9:19 p.m., he made a "spontaneous utterance" that he had a pen with THC oil in the vehicle.

During an inventory of the vehicle, Trooper Swindle discovered a black and white vape pen; the pen's contents were later tested and identified as positive for marijuana.

Without further indictment, Lewis was transported to the Jefferson County Jail.

Earlier, Lewis had agreed to a breathalyzer test, but once at the jail, he declined the test.

Lewis was turned over to the jail staff for booking, where he was charged with possession of a controlled substance (liquid THC), possession of drug paraphernalia and driving under the influence.

Shadrick Norton – April 7

Shadrick Lavane Norton, 35, of Tallahassee, was arrested on Sunday, April 7 by FHP Trooper White after it was discovered that Norton was driving with a suspended license.

Shadrick Lavane Norton

At 1:53 p.m., on the above date, Trooper White observed a white GMC Envoy traveling on State Road 59, south of the interstate.

The vehicle bore two different validation stickers on the license plate, and Trooper White recognized the driver as Shadrick Norton, who Trooper White had previously interacted with.

Due to that prior contact, Trooper White knew that Norton's driver's license was suspended.

Trooper White performed a Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) query on Norton, which confirmed that Norton's license was still suspended.

Trooper White conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle at the intersection of Gamble Road and East Notre Dame Street.

Upon making contact with the Norton (the driver) and informing Norton as to the reason for the stop, Trooper White was advised that the registered owner of the vehicle had been hospitalized and Norton was on his way to park the vehicle.

However, according to the report issued by the FHP, it was documented that Norton had been first observed leaving the liquor store located in a nearby Shell Station.

Norton provided his driver's license and Trooper White requested that the Tallahassee Regional Communications Center conduct a driver's license query on Norton's license in order to confirm the information that Trooper White had received from the FCIC query.

The information was confirmed and at 1:56 p.m., Trooper White placed Norton under arrest for driving with license suspended – third offense.

Norton was transported to the Jefferson County Jail without further incident.

Ronald Blue – April 7

Ronald E. Blue, 66, of Monticello, was arrested on Sunday, April 7 by Jefferson County Sheriff's Deputy Godwin after Blue violated the terms of his probation.

Ronald E. Blue

According to the warrant that was issued for his arrest and signed by Judge Caloca-Johnson on March 29, Blue was placed under probation in April of 2018 after being charged with aggravated assault – intent to commit felony.

In August of 2018, Blue violated the terms of his probation after failing a urine test analysis, which confirmed that Blue had used cocaine. Further, Blue continued to violate his probation by answering untruthfully when questioned by his probation officer about whether he had used cocaine.

Then, in March of 2019, Blue again violated the terms of his probation by failing a second urine sample analysis that again confirmed Blue's cocaine usage. On March 15, 2019, Blue was questioned by his probation officer and the warrant states that Blue answered untruthfully to the probation officer's inquiries.

Deputy Godwin arrested Blue on the violation of probation warrant, which was issued by the Department of Corrections.

The warrant states that Blue was to be held without bond.
